
cannot Install Joomla Online

Posted by ok::00100 - 2007/02/01 21:46

I've downloaded files Joomla.Start.php, etc. from current site to the appropriate directory. Then went to Install Joomla Online page and set url, ftp, login, password and folder where joomla should be installed. Properties of this folder is 777 as required. But next message is displayed: FTP connection has failed...
:blink:
Please provide more info to install joomla online.

thx in advance

Hi there! The problem seems to be that the ftp connect details you provided are not correct, so you need to recheck them! Also make sure the server ftp address is correct, should be something like ftp.domain.com or just domain.com!

If you still have problems, i would suggest you try the other restore method called "Install files directly"

Maybe cause of subdomain...

Sometimes the following message is displayed: Upload is failed

Next to the ftp options there is a box called "Install the files directly:", click on the circled box under that text! With this option checked, you won't need to provide any ftp details, just hit Submit!

Hi!

I'm on page http://www.joomlaplug.com/joomla_install_online/and there is no "Install the files directly:" function here.
Next message is displayed: Upload is failed!

I still want to install Joomla...

Please get the JoomlaStart package from here <http://www.joomlaplug.com/tools/joomlastart/joomlastart.html> and upload it to your site, then continue there the rest of the process by launching Joomla.Start.php in your browser!

Foolloving message appears during installation:

Warning: ftp_mkdir() : Can't create directory: File exists in /usr/home/txyzinf/public_html/txyz/Joomla.Start.php on line 323

How can I solve this problem?

That's only a warning message which usually appears on upgrading(it does not affect the rest of the process), if you want to supress it do this:

1. open the Joomla.Start.php file
2. go on line 323
3. replace ftp_mkdir with @ftp_mkdir
4. save it and upload it back on the site!

You can retrieve it from the front end Lost password section and as long as you have a valid email registered for the admin account!
