
Remembering what user?

Posted by Bill Noddin - 2007/10/04 06:35

Is there a way to integrate the two systems so that roundcube knows which email user to login based on who logs into joomla automatically??

I have faith in some of my employees to remember all the stuff to log into their email but not all of them and I know I wont be able to get ANY of them to log of to force a login.

Thanks.

Hi there! It is possible, however users would have to setup somewhere in lets say their profile the IMAP email account id they own and password, however this could lead to a security risk ig the passwords are retrieved by a hacker!

Anyway feel free to add this feature request on our JoomlaCode page here <http://joomlancode.org/gf/project/roundcube/> and we will work on it

Regards! Ovidiu
