
Someone please help me with Jcron from the scratch

Posted by arunankam - 2009/05/29 18:08

I have tried everything i knew and i read from the forum and over the internet... it is either i don't know anything or i missed to do something and i might laugh at myself after i hear from you...

I Need your help so much in setting up Jcron for Jomsocial to send out emails for any activity in the community....

Thank you for every little help which save me a bigtime...

Hi there! Could you post here a screenshot after your JCron cron task setup?

:unsure: attached is the screen shot of my Jcron setup. i think it is partially working. the activity email among users seems to be working fine but the admin only receives a blank message with JCron Daemon.

I as a admin need to receive the activity on the jomsocial so that i can follow up on to publish or unpublish the groups or users... i'm sure you understand what i'm talking about..

Thank you for your help. http://www.joomlaplug.com/images/fbfiles/files/Untitled_1.png

So you are saying that an email message is received when JCron runs, just that the content is empty?

If so, then it might be an issue from the code, which if you like we can assist you with!

Thank you...

email messages are not empty for the users but only for the admin. like to run Jcron you need to setup an email and all i receive to that email is this "JCron Daemon" in the body and no information about the activity.

Which means if user A send a message to user B they both does receive proper message saying user A has sent a message to user B..

Where as for me as admin i only receive "JCron Daemon" regarding the above mentioned activity..

Jcron only logs what the script is sending to the server output, it does not have any relation with the script internal message activity unless it's been coded that way
