
flash/video tutorials?

Posted by toi - 2006/04/18 01:04

Hi

can you create a tutorial video/flash to be able to see a real installation? (manual and online method) ..., people like I who we did not speak english well to see of real form a correct installation

rewards

note: this post has been translation by google

Re:flash/video tutorials?

Posted by admin - 2006/04/18 02:03

Hi there! Thank you for your suggestion, didn't think of it but i will definately do it, it's on my list!

Regards, Ovidiu

Re:flash/video tutorials?

Posted by mermedia - 2009/01/09 21:13

I'll do it for you for free if you will help me figure this thing out. I can't find any documentation.

Re:flash/video tutorials?

Posted by admin - 2009/01/10 03:49

What problems are you really having? If you are referring to JoomlaCloner/XCloner , this online manually http://www.joomlaplug.com/files/how_to_use_jcloner.pdf might help regarding the backup and restore!

Ovidiu

Re:flash/video tutorials?

Posted by mermedia - 2009/01/10 04:07

Yea, I found that one. Thanks. Uhm. Problems cloning. I'm trying to understand things like, if I move from site a to site b do I need to have joomla on site b or does it install everything for me. The other is trying to figure out all the appropriate connection information. It would be nice to have a step by step sample show how to go from A to B using sample sites and showing all the settings. Just my thoughts. Nothing against your tool. Please don't take this negatively. I'm just a visual person.

Re:flash/video tutorials?

Posted by admin - 2009/01/13 06:14

When cloning, you are not required to have Joomla installed on the restore site, all you need is the backup archive and restore script we provide!

The documentation section <http://www.joomlaplug.com/Documentation/> contains a lot of tutorials and videos, you just need to take your time and browse the cotent

Ovidiu
